A New Plan for Roads.

If a system could be devised to work all the idle laborers of the county on the public roads making them into good turnpikes, and take one-half the profit it would add to our farm lands along these new turnpikes and pay these laborers for their work, which it would amply do, we would be able to have turnpikes in Powell and at a profit to all concerned besides, and the use of the good roads to boot. Here is a profitable project for some financier: Let him secure an option on all farm lands along a certain road at what these lands are now worth while the roads are bad, then build the turnpikes and dispose of the lands at what they will be worth after the pikes are built. We believe there would be a good profit in the venture, and suggest that some of the more enterprising citizens along some road leading from Clay City form a company and make a trial of it at the expense of their less enterprising neighbors. It surely would pay not even taking into account the increased value of their own farm lands.

Death of Mrs. Walters.

Mrs. Eva Walters, wife of H. B. Walters, died at Waltersville Thursday evening, aged thirty-seven years. She is survived by her father, Miles Bach, three brothers and one sister. Funeral services at the residence by Rev. Louis Fryman and burial in the family graveyard Saturday. Deceased was a most estimable lady in every sense of the word. She had been a long and patient sufferer, and Mr. Walters has spent large sums of money in the trial of every treatment to relieve her sufferings but all to no avail.

The bereaved have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

First State Primary.

The first State primary law in Kentucky will be held on Saturday, August 3, this year, under the new primary law recently passed by the Legislature and approved and signed by Governor McCreary. At this primary election candidates of all parties for Representatives in Congress will be nominated, except in the Seventh district, where the nomination has already been made. Under this law all primary elections are to be held on the first Saturday in August of each year, and the expense is to be borne by the State. Consequently, the primary election to nominate candidates for the various county offices cannot be held until August 2, 1913.

A Forcible Reminder.

The impassable condition of many roads in various sections of the country for weeks and months of the winter now drawing to a close has been a forcible reminder of the necessity of having improved roads before another winter season shall arrive. Let not the matter rest this summer through any short-sighted policy like that made famous by a citizen of Arkansas with respect to the roof of his dwelling.—Inland Farmer.

Beat on a Frazzle.

In the New York Republican primary Tuesday Taft secured 83 of the 90 delegates. Taft on the same date also carried the Indiana convention. The capture of these two states together with the instructions heretofore obtained by the President, makes his nomination an almost certainty.

Mrs. Ollie Sewell, of Winchester, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mandy Walters, at Waltersville and other relatives here.

Effect June 12.

The Confederate Pension law which takes effect June 12th will be a great relief to many of the old veterans who are now in sore need. To get a pension under the provisions of this law, the applicant must have resided in the State since January, 1907, and must have served in the Confederate army or navy at least one year or until the close of the war. He must now be either disabled or indigent. He is excluded from help, if he is able to earn a support, or if he already receives a pension from any Government, or if he removes from the State, or if he has a net income of $300 a year or property worth $2,500, or if his wife has income sufficient to support the two, or if he is pensioned by private individuals or if partly by property and partly by labor he can enjoy an income of $300 a year.

Why Were We Slighted?

Why is it that the Farm Specialist cuts out the counties of Eastern Kentucky in its itinerary? Estill, Lee, Powell, Breathitt, Rowan, Carter, Whitney, Knox, Bell, Laurel, and several others, that can be reached by railroads should have the opportunity of this train more than the Bluegrass regions. There is land in the above counties, just now being cultivated, with excellent results, uniting mountain farmers, and a coterie of experts like this would do more good to these folks than they would in the Bluegrass section, where less attention is paid to the scientific culture of the soil.—Winchester Democrat.

Good Appointment.

Governor McCreary has appointed Fred R. Blackburn, of this county, a member of the new State Board of Agriculture. Mr. Blackburn for the past two years has been a member of the old Board, and has worked hard for the betterment of the farmers in this part of the State, and, especially for the farmers of Powell county, though it may not have been appreciated by them as it should.

Green Watkins was tried and came clear in Breathitt county last week for the shooting of "Yallar Cat" Davis in Jackson some time last fall. Davis was shot by Watkins, who was acting as town Marshal of Jackson, while resisting arrest. Davis was hurried to the hospital at Lexington, but died on the train at Bowen in this county.

Farmers are being offered in the Bluegrass 6 and 6½ cents for their lambs and 20 and 25 cents a pound for their wool. These prices are good and satisfactory the only trouble being there are not enough sheep and lambs in the country especially through this section. Except on the river, Powell county is a fine place to raise sheep and thousands should be raised here, but instead there are only a few.

Monday morning was fair and it has since so continued. This pretty Spring weather has given farmers the itch fever for farm work which is far behind on account of so much rain. The early gardeners are busy with their onions and lettuce beds and planting peas, as are the precautionary housewives busy house cleaning.

Dies in West Virginia.

Mrs. Lizzie Duncan, wife of C. W. Duncan, died at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Tuesday, March 26th. The remains were brought here yesterday and were taken to the Clay City Hotel where funeral services will be held this morning by the Rev. Louis Fryman after which burial in the local cemetery. For months Mrs. Duncan has been an invalid.

Before marriage Mrs. Duncan was a Miss Eaton being a sister to J. B., C. C., Bert and Jesse Eaton of this city. She leaves besides her husband, six children, her mother, Wm. Eaton, of Tennessee, besides the four brothers of this city above mentioned; Mrs. J. W. Chaffin, of Sardis, Miss., Mrs. F. C. Mize, of Quick-sand, Mrs. J. C. Fitch, of Lexington, Mrs. J. H. O'Rear and Miss Alice Eaton of this city.

Hunters Must Pay License.

All resident hunters in Kentucky must now pay a license of $1.00 before they can enjoy the sport, while non-resident hunters must pay a license of $15.00 for the same privilege. The hunting season has been extended to February 1st, beginning the same time as before November 15th. Land owners can hunt on their own property without paying any license fee.

Given Life Sentence.

Sam Watkins was yesterday given a life sentence for the killing of Louis Napper in Breathitt county sometime ago. Watkins was given a like sentence at a special term of this court last September but was given a new trial by the Court of Appeals.

Broom Corn.

Good broom corn sells for $200 a ton, but there is not much broom corn, good or otherwise, being grown in Kentucky. In fact there is a scarcity of the first-class product everywhere which has been reflected in recent years in the high prices of brooms.

Federal census figures show that in 1909 broom corn was grown on 1,041 farms in Kentucky, but the entire harvest area amounted to only 342 acres and the entire product aggregated only 157,286 pounds of the value of about $14,000. A pound of broom corn seed will plant about an acre of ground and the cost of cultivation is not heavy. Broom corn does not exhaust the soil, as the stalks are plowed under and thus enrich the land. The stalks also are in some demand for the making of paper pulp.—Courier-Journal.

Hogs were eight cents on the Cincinnati market yesterday. This is the highest price for hogs in several months. We hope to see them go still higher.

Value of the Home Merchant.

A correspondent of the Times gives some pointed reasons why the farming community surrounding every town should get behind the town and push its business interests, urging considering of what that would mean compared to patronizing mail order houses. If the town grows, land values grow all around it. If business men are compelled to reduce their stocks or go to other fields in order to get business, it is not the town only but the farming community that suffers. The question is asked, what personal interest is it to any one in that country to enrich the mail order houses? The money spent away from home is taken from the prosperity of the town, and just as directly from the prosperity of the country surrounding it. The writer declares that it is as much to the interest of every man who owns a farm in Powell county to keep Clay City flourishing as it is for the people inside the city to keep it flourishing. The continued growth of a good town always gives added value to all farm lands adjoining. The local merchant in a town is the friend and neighbor of the farmer. The mail order house is nothing of the kind, and it cares nothing for the individual interests of the farmer except to get his money. The local merchant, besides bearing his share of taxes, is always assisting the churches and charities of the community. No such help comes from mail order houses. The larger business that is given to the home merchant allows him to carry the larger stock and to sell at a smaller margin. To sacrifice your home town is to depreciate local real estate values and retard the growth of values of both town and farm property. The town that seems prosperous and looks prosperous invites investment not only in the town, but in the locality, so that a stranger, looking for a location, becomes interested and a purchaser, while he would ordinarily leave the dead town and its surrounding territory out of consideration.

The Kentucky Agricultural train slights this portion of Eastern Kentucky, but does not fail to visit each county of the state where they are already making a success of farming and need no instructions. The policy seems to be "Help those who are able to help themselves".

This reminds us of the rural route. In the Bluegrass counties where they have turnpikes all over county, the rural routes are located, but up here where the roads are so poor we can hardly travel them half the year, no rural routes will be established. If we had good roads we wouldn't need rural routes so bad. We could go to town or send by some neighbor every day, but as it is it is bad, but we must grin and bear it.

Roosevelt being overwhelmingly defeated in the New York Republican primary, sets up the cry of fraud and force. Teddy wanted the primary but not the licking it brought him in his own state. However, we have no doubt but what the Colonel says about fraud in a Republican primary is true, but had he been the victor under such circumstances would he have complained of the fraud?

The Democratic excise bill, to tax everybody's income 1 per cent when it is $5,000 or more a year, passed the National House of Representatives last week by the vote of 250 to 49. The Democrats voted solidly for the bill and carried 80 Republican votes with them. The two Republican Representatives from Kentucky, Langley and Powers, both voted for the bill.

Teddy has inaugurated a retrenchment in his campaign expenses at headquarters in New York. He was paying out $7,500 per week to boom himself for President but has cut these expenses down to $600 per week. Must see that the cards are stacked just as he stacked them four years ago.

Teddy is coming to Kentucky following his hat which is in the ring for President. He will be in Mt. Sterling for a brief speech early in the morning of April 3rd. He will also make brief speeches at Lexington and Frankfort and go on to Louisville where he will deliver a more extended address.

Representative J. Campbell Cantrill, of this district, who has secured his nomination again in the Democratic party by actions of the Committee before Powell was placed in the Seventh, has filed, as the law requires, his expense in securing said nomination which is $421 total.

Both Taft and Roosevelt propose to use the "steam rooler" to carry the convention. What is left after the smash should not present much of an obstacle to the grand old Democracy.

Chairman Lovett of the Union Pacific Railroad says, that there is a general feeling of prosperity in the air. Most of us, however, would rather it was of the earth earthy.

"However great the demand for Colonel Roosevelt may become, it will never be greater than the supply," observes an exchange. Very, very true.

It now looks like a renomination for Taft in June and a crushing defeat by the Democratic Nominee in November.

Every time you see a bareheaded man now you naturally conclude that his "hat is in the ring."

What Theodore Roosevelt Said.

"On the 4th of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and this three and a half years constitute my first term. The wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

—Theodore Roosevelt, Nov. 8, 1904.

"I have not changed and shall not change that decision thus announced."—Theodore Roosevelt, Dec. 11, 1907.

"I will accept the nomination for President if it is tendered to me, and I will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference."—Theodore Roosevelt, Feb. 24, 1912.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has now proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

HANDY ARRANGEMENT IN BARN

Feed Box and Manger So Placed That Animal Will Clean Up Everything Without Wasting.

In arranging the feed box in the manger or hay shoot by a little care, we can soon save the first cost of material and labor, if an arrangement is put in like the one shown. The trough and manger should be at such a height that the animal when eating will have its head well up; just the same as a natural position. The trough or feed box should be two feet long, two feet wide and foot deep. It will then be large enough in which to put chopped feed without the animal throwing it out with its nose.

The platform under the hay shoot should be four feet long, two feet wide and two inches below the level of the top of the feed box. The hay shoot should be about 16x20 inches.

This will allow the animal ample room to get the hay out a mouthful at a time. What hay and chaff falls while eating falls on the platform so arranged for it and the beast will clean it up nicely without any waste whatever.

The opening just above the manger is for the convenience of the feeder. One can feed corn, chops or any variety of feeds without going behind or even into the stall where the animal is.

SHOW AND PRODUCING TYPES

Ayrshire Bred for Exhibition Has Been Developed for Beauty Alone—Conformation of Udder.

There are two kinds of Ayrshires—the show type and the producing type. The show type has been developed and bred for beauty alone. The genuine show udder must be compact and closely attached, both before and behind. The sole must be flat with no indentations between the teats and the udder must not protrude behind, but be carried up even with the thighs and have small, cylindrical teats, evenly placed on the flat bottom.

Excellent Type of Ayrshire.

tom. This is the only kind of udder that can be shown in many years in succession and not become too pendant for the ring. Any intelligent dairyman knows that this type of udder is fleshy and does not belong to the best producers. This craze for tight, close, shallow udders started in the show ring about twenty-five years ago.

Value of Separator.

It is quite safe to say that a dairyman with ten average cows yielding five thousand pounds of milk each annually would, by the deep setting cold water system, lose at least 300 pounds of butter fat yearly, which would amount to about $90. From this one saving alone it can easily be figured that a cream separator will pay for itself every year in the saving of butter fat from the milk of ten cows.

Need of Silo Recognized.

To the up to date and progressive dairyman and to the most advanced cattle feeders, the use of the silo and the feeding of ensilage is recognized as being necessary to the greatest success in their respective lines of business.

Biggest Not Always Best.

The biggest cow is not always the best animal in the dairy by a long shot. Good quality may be contained in a small cow and some breeders assert that it is more frequently in the medium or even under-sized animal than in the larger ones.

Fall plowed ground can be planted fully ten days earlier than ground that is plowed in the spring.

MOVABLE RACKS FOR FODDER

Description and Illustration is Given of Device That is Inexpensive and Easy to Construct.

A response to a query for a rack to feed corn fodder to cattle and coits is given by a writer in the Wallace's Farmer and is as follows:

The drawing herewith will give an idea of the construction. The four corner posts are 4x4's. The sides and ends are made of 2x4's and a space of two feet wide is left for the cattle to feed through. The 2x4's are spiked or bolted onto the 4x4's. Two upright pieces of 2x4's are on each side, equidistant from each corner. Between these are two stub 2x4's coming up to the space left for the cattle to feed through.

Movable Fodder Rack.

My bunks have six cross 2x4's on each side, four below the feeding space and two above. These bunks are light and two boys can move them easily. They do this by simply upsetting them. There are no bottoms in the bunks.

Every day or two they are turned over once or twice to a fresh place, and the stalks left and gleaned over by the hogs, and serve as bedding for the steers until they are worked up and ready to be hauled to the field as manure.

I notice in the above description that I have neglected to mention that there should be one or two 2x4's across the top as a brace to stand the strain when they are upset, and the rubbing and pushing of the cattle.
